
Please read these simple Forum rules

Posted by Stephen - 2008/05/11 19:29

Welcome to the Shinto Judo Forum.

This is to be treated as an online Dojo, you must always show respect for each other here, any abusive posts will be deleted and the person who posts that will be automatically banned from the forum.

This forum is designed to educate each other about our different findings during our journey throughout our Judo Careers, from the first week of being a Judoka to being the seasoned veteran, everyone has lots to offer and we can all learn from each other. Special guests like international Sensei will be posting and various topics will be raised which will contain lots of valuable information to help you improve and develop into better Judoka.

If you have any questions about Judo, Shinto Judo Club or any other related items, go to the relevant category and open a New thread and ask away, it will be answered by many people with differing experiences.

=====