The dojo is a small Machi(City) dojo called Matsumae Judo Juku. The school is ran by Tokai University. The mat area is the size of one competition area with a real nice sprung floor set up.(It looks like it a real expensive one which seems to be normal in Japan.) I got a chance to practice with one of the kids classes there last summer when I went there.(I have a childhood friend who is a student at Tokai and teaches the kids classes there who the connection for our group.)

-Tad who now has an inflated ego :P
